Saint Leo University’s Master of Science (MS) in human services administration degree gives you the tools needed to advance your human services career. It prepares you to succeed while also instilling the values and skills necessary to administer a successful human services agency or organization.

Our unique approach allows human services administration graduates to return to their communities to offer new solutions to existing social issues by starting their own organization.
LEARNING OUTCOMES
Upon completing your MS in Human Services Administration, you will have enhanced knowledge in many topics related to leadership, management, board development, program planning and evaluation and grantsmanship. You will also learn how to organize organizations and develop 501(c)(3) applications.

Through direct community involvement that includes service learning and an elected internship, students learn theory but also how to put that theory into practice in their community. This gives the opportunity to create a community needs assessment to determine where gaps in service exist.

From there, they discover how to develop a 501(c)(3) organization with agency bylaws, a mission statement, a board of trustees. Students also receive hands-on experience with planning, managing and leading in the field of human services.

COURSES
Some of the courses our human services administration students enjoy most include:

- Management and Leadership in Human Services Organizations
- Legal and Ethical Issues in Human Services
- Creating New Human Services Organizations
- Funding Sources for Human Services Organizations
- Advocacy and Policy Analyses
- Grantsmanship

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES
There are a multitude of career opportunities within the human services field enabling MS grads to work within a number of agencies such as those related to administration of:

- Healthcare
- Child Welfare
- Aging
- Mental health
- Government
- Nonprofit and for-profit management

ADMISSION TO PROGRAM
