Student Employment at Saint Leo University

Saint Leo University offers students the opportunity to work during the academic year. Student employment provides the hands on ability to learn marketable skills, gain career experience, and develop a network of contacts before students graduate.

Student employment is a real job in which the student will be paid per the approved pay scale. Having a part time job can also assist with reducing student loan debt. Though students may apply for multiple positions, students are permitted to work only one job.

We hope your employment here will enhance your learning and personal development. Your successful employment with Saint Leo University is important to us. As a student employee, it is essential that you are familiar with Saint Leo procedures and policies. This manual has been designed to outline some specific guidelines to assist you in better understanding our expectations of you. We hope that your employment will assist you with achieving both your academic and professional goals.

Student Employment Programs

There are three student employment programs available:

Federally Funded (Federal Work Study) Employment

Federally funded (Federal Work Study) employment provides job opportunities for students demonstrating financial need and is intended to help pay for students' educational expenses. Federal work study eligibility is reviewed each year and is determined by the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid). If a student is eligible for Federal Work Study, the work study award will be included in their financial aid package. A student must have a completed and verified FAFSA on file, be enrolled at least 6 credits, maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress, and have remaining need to be eligible for Federal Work Study. Funding is limited. Federal Work Study awards may decrease during the academic year due to additional aid awarded in the form of grants and/or scholarships.

Institutional Funded Employment

Institutional funded employment provides job opportunities for students who are not eligible for federal work study. There are a limited number of positions each year that are institutionally funded. Please ensure you confirm with the hiring manager that the position you apply for is institutionally funded before accepting employment.

Florida Work Experience Employment

Limited funding from the state of Florida provides job opportunities for students demonstrating Florida residency and financial need. It is intended to help pay for students' educational expenses. Eligible students must meet all of Florida's Department of Education requirements.

Payroll

Payroll documents will be required when you have been offered a job as a work study employee. Human Resources will provide these documents to you electronically through Workday. You may not begin work until payroll documentation is approved. There will be hiring fairs in which you are required to attend and provide original unexpired documentation.

There are three (3) pay scales for the 2021/22 academic year. Pride Leaders and Café Leo employees are paid $10.00 per hour; non-specialized positions pay minimum wage, which is currently $8.65 per hour; and specialized positions pay $9.15 per hour. Specialized positions are: certified lifeguards, dining services, lab assistants, LRC tutors, facilities management, newspaper editors, videography/photography, communication specialists, and phonathon supervisors.

Workday is utilized for wages and earning statements along with tracking your time. To access your earning statements visit the Workday website (Workday.Saintleo.edu) using your Saint Leo University credentials.

You are responsible for ensuring that your time is entered daily and that your time log shows the actual hours worked. You are not permitted to log time in advance. You must submit your time by noon the following Monday to ensure that your wages are not delayed.

When you near the maximum total number of work study hours allotted to you, your supervisor will notify you of how many more hours you have remaining until your eligibility is exhausted.

Student Rights and Responsibilities

It is the student's responsibility to read the Student Employment webpages, paying special attention to the "important dates" section that lists semester start and end dates. Students must be enrolled and actively attending classes to qualify for student employment. Students may only hold one student employment job at a time.

If a student is awarded Federal Work Study, it is that student's responsibility to keep track of cumulative FWS earnings and to advise the supervisor monthly of the balance. Once the FWS limit for the semester is reached, the department will terminate employment, or the student may be transferred to departmental funding. Gross earnings are monitored online through the Workday website.

The student's hiring supervisor will be notified via Workday once a student has completed the hiring process. An offer letter must be accepted by the student via Workday along with completing onboarding tasks submitted electronically through Workday. Students must present to Human Resources their I-9 documentation to complete the hiring process. Students are not allowed to start working prior to this approval. Students may work a maximum of 20 hours per week determined by their official class schedule. Work is not allowed during scheduled class time even if class has been canceled. Students must log their time accurately and submit their worked hours in a timely manner; otherwise the student will be paid late. Infraction(s) regarding time sheet completion and submission may result in termination of employment.

If a student falsifies any time sheets, they will be terminated immediately and have disciplinary actions brought against them by Saint Leo University.

Students must adhere to the established work schedule. If time off is desired, permission must be sought from the hiring supervisor in advance. If a student is unable to make it to work on a scheduled work day, the hiring supervisor must be notified as far in advance as possible.

Students must adhere to all rules and policies established by the employer, including dress code. Students have an obligation to perform job duties satisfactorily. Employers will evaluate job performance, attendance, work ethics, behavior, and attitude annually. Evaluations can be used as reference for future employers even after graduation from Saint Leo University.

The employer has the right to terminate a student from the job if he/she determines that any of the above expectations are unsatisfactory.

Students are required to give notice to the employer before quitting. By accepting a position within an area, you are entering a contract to work the terms of employment as outlined in the position. Only under special circumstances are students permitted to change jobs during or at the end of the semester, and only with the approval of the Human Resource Office.

Student Employment FAQ's

How much will I earn?

There are currently three (3) rates depending on the type of position and whether it requires certain specialization. Students holding Federal Work Study positions may not earn more than their awarded amount.

Can I work as many hours as I want?

No. Student employees work a maximum of 20 hours per week as determined by their official class schedule. Work is not allowed during scheduled class time even if the class has been canceled. Some positions will require fewer than 20 hours per week.

When can I start working?

Once hired, students may begin Work Study employment for the 21-22 academic year on August 30, 2021. Work Study employment ends May 7, 2022.

How do I apply to receive a Federal Work Study award?

If you are interested in applying for a Federal Work Study (FWS) award you must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) at www.fafsa.ed.gov. FWS is a limited fund and is awarded on a first come first served basis. Early FAFSA completion is strongly recommended.

How do I find a job?

Student employment positions are available through the Saint Leo Career Portal. Under the "Job Type" section, click "student" to search for student jobs that are currently available.

What paperwork will I need to complete and submit?

Human Resources and Payroll documents will be required after you have been offered a job as a work study employee. Human Resources will provide you with these tasks through Workday. You may not begin work until human resources and payroll documentation is submitted/approved.

What documentation will I need to begin employment?

Student employment is a real job. You will need to provide identity documents in accordance with the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (UCIS) statutes BEFORE you can begin work. All forms of documentation must to be original and not expired. Click here to learn about what documentation is accepted.

What if I do not have a United States Social Security Card?

A U.S. Social Security number is REQUIRED for ALL persons to be hired in the United States. Please click here for more information.

How do I record my time worked?

Time must be entered through the Workday website accurately based on the hours you work each day. Your supervisor will review time sheet protocol with you. It is your responsibility to accurately complete time sheets and submit them to your supervisor per the payroll schedule.

How will I receive my paycheck?

Direct Deposit is required for student employees to receive their pay. Complete the Direct Deposit task through Workday to have your earnings deposited into your checking or savings account with any bank in the United States.
